Mitsui Chemicals Acquires Shares of Korean Optical Lens Monomer Company

Mitsui Chemicals, Inc. ("MCI"; Toshikazu Tanaka, President & CEO) today announced that it entered into a share purchase agreement with shareholders including management of KOC Solution ("KOC"), a Korean manufacturer and distributor of plastic optical lenses monomers, to acquire 51% of the Company's shares. Following acquisition of the shares, the Company will become a subsidiary of the Mitsui Chemicals Group.

1. Objective of Acquisition

MCI positions optical lenses monomers as one of Five Priority Businesses ---- businesses resilient to economic changes ---- under its fiscal 2011 Mid-term Business Plan. MCI seeks to expand worldwide sales of its competitive edge high index lenses while actively developing its low index lenses business through methods including M&As, such as the 2011 acquisition of ACOMON of Switzerland which holds a global distribution network in this field. Meanwhile, KOC manufactures plastic optical lens monomers with middle index to high index with its main market being China.

The acquisition of KOC shares is expected to have the following synergistic effects on MCI's monomers for optical lenses business.

- a. Improvement of MCI's product portfolio by addition of KOC's middle index to high index monomers
- b. Expansion of MCI Group product sales on the growing Chinese market through manufacturing and sales sites owned by KOC which are located in areas where China's optical related businesses are concentrated

By making KOC a subsidiary of the MCI Group, the Group will further strengthen its position as a world leader in plastic optical lenses monomers and enhance its presence on the global market.
